FEIAP

FEIAP is an international non-profit professional organization. It was formerly named the Federation of Engineering Institutions of Southeast Asia and the Pacific (FEISEAP), which was founded in July 1978. Being an independent umbrella organization for the engineering institutions in the Southeast Asia and the Pacific region, the objectives of FEISEAP were to encourage the application of technical progress to economic and social advancement throughout the world; to advance engineering as a profession in the interest of all people; and to foster peace throughout the world.

At the 14th General Assembly of FEISEAP held in Cebu, Philippines, in November, 2007, it was agreed that the Constitution of the Federation should be reviewed to more clearly define its objectives and to broaden the scope of participants eligible for membership. This version of the Constitution was unanimously adopted by the Special General Assembly of the Federation held in Hanoi, Vietnam, June 2008. The Constitution incorporates a change to the present name as the Federation of Engineering Institutions of Southeast Asia and the Pacific (FEIAP).
