

TALK ON SUSTAINABILITY AS A PROFESSION

(Organised by the Urban Engineering Development Special Interest Group)

Date: 23rd August 2017

Time: 5.30pm to 7.30pm

Venue: Tan Sri Prof. Chin Fung Kee Auditorium, 3rd Floor Wisma IEM

Speaker: Dr. Thomas S.K. Tang

BEM Approved CPD/PDP: 2 Hours
Ref. No: IEM17/HQ/294/T

SYNOPSIS:

Sustainability is about looking after the environment and society for future generations. How can the "private sectors" play a role in doing so, instead of leaving the task to government and NGOs? The role of professionals in sustainability will be discussed and how engineers and designers can play a part in this challenge facing us. Case studies of urbanization, climate change, ageing populations and smart cities will be presented.

SPEAKER PROFILE

Dr. Thomas Tang is the Sustainability Director for AECOM Asia with extensive experience in urban design, sustainable cities and solid waste management. He is a member of the Research Committee of the Malaysian Green Building Council and an Associate Member of the International Construction Business Management Research Group at the University of Technology Malaysia. He is an Honorary Fellow of the College of Estate Management (UK), a Fellow of the Institute of Environmental Management and Assessment, and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts, Manufacturing and Commerce.
