SYNOPSIS

This Year August 8th, ASEAN celebrated its 50th Anniversary. In the half a century of its existence, the original ASEAN 5 became ASEAN 6, then ASEAN 10 towards the end of the last millennium. In the mix of things, to remain intact and relevant over the test of time for ASEAN to reach its ‘Golden’ status is something to celebrate – not withstanding ASEAN skeptics. Reason: the enhanced opportunities of tapping into the Global Value Chains (GVCs) via the ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) that will progressively become a seamless common market and borderless production base; unified by standards driven ‘Good Regulatory Practices’ based ASEAN Connectivity.

What will be the next 50 years like, when ASEAN celebrates its Centennial in 2067? That shall be for today’s Millennial to determine. To chart the Future, one must know the Past; understand related History and appreciate the Paradigm of days past.

The presentation of the Caption is just that; with the aim that when ASEAN (or AFEO) YES stakeholders are better informed, they can and will make a difference in ASEAN; our community, our ‘Home’.

BIODATA OF SPEAKER

Ir. Rocky H.T. Wong, FIEM, graduated as an Electrical Engineer in the mid-60’s from the University of Malaya and served the Malaysian Power Authority (NEB) for some 16 years before resigning to join the private sector as an engineering consultant early ‘80s ~ centering on energy, environment, power, process & plant engineering.
