Abstract

Over the years, it has been observed that many graduate engineers are unable to present themselves for the Professional Interview (PI) conducted by the IEM because they possess insufficient design experience, which is a prerequisite. This intensive design course will therefore prepare potential candidates for the said PI.

Course Overview

This course is to provide the candidate the knowledge to understand areas on the following:

- Understand soil mechanics (effective stress, shear strength, consolidation, earth pressure etc.)
- Plan and supervision of subsurface investigation (field and laboratory tests) and interpretation of test results.
- Carry out slope stability analysis and design.
- Carry out foundation design (pile capacity design and shallow foundation)
- Carry out settlement analysis
- Carry out soil structure interaction
- Carry out retaining wall design (earth pressure calculation)
- Ground treatment selection

Course Format

The course consists of formal content presentation. The facilitators' style involves intensive participant participation.

Information on Registration

Registration fees cover course notes. If a place is reserved and the intended participants failed to attend the course on the date of the event the fee is to be settled in full.

The fee paid is non-refundable. However, substitution of participants(s) will be permitted with approval by IEM. In view of the limited places available, intending participants are advised to send their registration as early as possible so as to avoid disappointment.

The Special Committee reserves the right to alter or change the programme due to unforeseen circumstances. Every effort will be made to inform the registered participants of any changes.
