SYNOPSIS

Corporate organisations face an uphill task in daily projects and team management. The knowledge of How to Optimise Your Projects and Teams, is an essential skill-set for all industries and aspects of our lives. This SMART WORKFORCE Series of "Optimise Your Project and Team Management" forms an introduction and basic understanding to Project and Team Management. We will share 10 Knowledge Areas of Project Management; as a discovery training for participants. It is suitable for any personnel that is managing project tasks, resource assignment and costs management for all kinds of projects; be it simple event project to mega engineering project. On top of that, we will share our experience on important functional productivity tools that are needed to further maximise your project management and CRM using SaaS Platform.

In order to make it more fun and relevant, we have invited a special guest from a global job platform to share his thoughts on Team Management. Team Management is crucial in any organisation's development and every project relies on the PEOPLE to deliver success. So explore with us on how you can effectively manage, communicate and deploy successfully across your projects today!
