SYNOPSIS

The Aircraft Maintenance Department at Politeknik Banting Selangor is an accredited aviation training institution approved by the Civil Aviation Authority of Malaysia (CAAM) and the Engineering Technology Accreditation Council (ETAC). The department plays a pivotal role in producing skilled graduates equipped for the aviation industry through its comprehensive curriculum and hands-on technical training.

Participants will have the opportunity to explore the department's facilities, including the aircraft hangar, engine workshops, and avionics laboratories. The visit also offers a platform for networking and exchanging insights with academic and technical personnel on aviation education and training development in Malaysia.

Benefits from the Technical Visit:

1. Gain exposure to an accredited aviation training institution recognised by CAAM and ETAC.
2. Understand the structure and facilities of a certified aircraft maintenance education program.
3. Strengthen industry-academia engagement and explore potential collaborations.
4. Enhance awareness of educational standards and training practices in aviation maintenance.
5. Provide a valuable reference for benchmarking and institutional development initiatives.
