SYNOPSIS

This year, Engineers Australia launched Engineering Online (EOL - engineeringonline.com) - to give all engineers and related professionals convenient and affordable access to high quality online continuing professional development (CPD). EOL videos and courses cover a wide variety of topics such as project management, career development and technical presentations. The presentation will introduce EA's training and development arm, Engineering Education Australia (EEA), the EOL development roadmap and new approaches to developing content in partnership with engineers and organisations. We will also highlight the updates to EOL since May 2014 and share some new developments that may interest the Malaysian engineers.

BIODATA OF SPEAKER

Phoebe Tan is the International Advisor at Engineers Australia. Her role is primarily responsible for the delivery of EA's international strategy and the coordination of all international member programs. She works closely with EA's overseas chapters in Hong Kong, Malaysia, Singapore and the UK, along with EA's International Committee, to build member engagement and facilitate strong relationships between EA, industry, government and other professional associations internationally.

Ir. Assoc. Prof. Dr. Vinesh Thiruchelvam
Chairman
Engineering Education Technical Division, IEM
