SYNOPSIS

Entrepreneurs are people who relentlessly identify processes and opportunities, allocate resources resulting in value creation. In the endeavor to increase stakeholders' share equity, the business entity has a need of a strong and formidable leader at the helm. Whatever the background and discipline that the leadership of a business entity possesses, has bearing to the business achievement but nothing compared to that of the value adding the leadership provides. As such entrepreneurial skills are a pre-requisite in a successful business, however coupled with excellent leadership qualities will make the business soar to greater heights of achievements.

Running a business takes more than just skills and knowledge. It takes responsibilities and qualities that measures up with the demands of the environment and the market place. Market shares and concentration including opportunities are difficult to penetrate and capitalized. The course "Leadership for Engineers 3 – Leadership for Entrepreneurs", is one among a series of 10 (ten) courses that will gradually introduce the fundamentals and skill base that leads to competency as a leader, a much sought after ability by engineers and non-engineers alike. It is with these knowledge of the responsibilities and qualities of leadership that shall bring the business entity to greater achievements towards Fortune 500 Class.

WHO MUST ATTEND

- Engineers attending Professional Assessment Examination
