SYNOPSIS

Open source adoption in related to IT in office has been slow but has been gaining ground recently with success stories and users awareness in such deployment. Today it is possible to apply full open source application suite in office and remove software purchase cost and yearly license renewal.

Sharing of such experience in full adoption of open source and remove proprietary components from office environment either immediately or gradually is a reality with further enhancement of applications use in typical office environment.

This talk will share user experience in such adoption and identify any pitfall in such a deployment.

- Complete and Total Open Source IT Apps
- Desktop, Mobile and Server Apps
- OA Productivity Tools
- Infrastructure Management Tools
- Office Management Tools
